CHALLENGING CASE OF CRITICAL LIMB ISCHEMIA IN YOUNG FEMALE

Hospital SS Antonio e Biagio e Cesare Arrigo- Cardio-thoracic and Vascular Department
Alessandria, ITALY
Peretti E MD, Guagliano A MD, Minerba AC MD, Perfumo C MD, Muncinelli M MD, SALVINI M MD

- 47 year-old caucasian female presenting to ER for left limb continuous pain, initial digital trophic lesion
- Smoking habit
- Myocardial infarction (2009)
- Common iliac/external iliac artery stenting 2-3 years before
- Progressive worsening of claudication span

Surgical procedure

- Removal of iliac stents
- Left common iliac artery endarterectomy

Sonography follow-up

- Common femoral artery
- Tibio-peroneal artery
- Popliteal artery

Angiography

- Occlusion of right common and external iliac axes
  Collaterals at leg and foot level

Left thigh

Common iliac-hypogastric artery by-pass Dacron 8 mm + jump to common femoral artery Dacron 8 mm